The Trust has a legal duty to protect patient confidentiality, in line with this duty the figure <5 has been provided where figures are very low. This is because of the potential risk of identification of an individual. In reaching this decision the Trust has taken into account the small geographical area which the Trust serves. In addition the Trust has taken into account the fact that all information disclosed in response to an FOI is disclosed to the 'world at large' and is published on the Trust website.

S 40 (2) (third party information) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 has been applied to exempt the redacted information from disclosure. The Trust does not consider the disclosure of the redacted information to be fair to the individuals concerned as there is the potential risk of identification of an individual(s) which they would not expect, and which would therefore breach the fairness element of the first principle of the Data Protection Act 2018.

On average, how long does it take for the appeal process to conclude?

Response:

The appeals process can take on average between 4 – 8 weeks, based on stage 1 and Stage 2 appeals requirements.

Please provide a demographic breakdown of the child who have been registered on the Child Protection Register over the last 5 years (i.e. percentage of ethnicity breakdown (British, Irish, Other))

Response:

How many children registered on the CPR in the last 5 years were already care experienced?

Response:

For the number of children registered on the CPR for the last 5 years, 178 had previous care experience.

Please provide a breakdown of the socio-economic/geographic background of registrations for the last 5 years. Please can you confirm number of registrations per postcode?

Response:

The Trust has a legal duty to protect patient confidentiality therefore we cannot provide 'full postcodes' as particularly with our more rural locations with smaller population providing a full postcode may prove too identifiable.
