Please note that the registered numbers for some of the disability day care centres above were set many years ago and are requiring review. The Trust is currently reviewing registered numbers to take account of the increasing complexity of current day care attenders and young adults due to transition from school to day care over the next 3 years. The Trust intends to discuss with RQIA a revision of the number of service users registered at each centre to ensure it is reflective of what the service can safely deliver.
