*Although the Southern Trust understands that there is a public interest in being open and transparent, the information on Security hardware, Security software and operating systems is business sensitive and has the potential to leave the Trust vulnerable to cyber security attack. By disclosing these details, this information could prejudice and compromise the Trust's network/IT security as it would assist a potential hacker/attacker in mapping out the Trust's IT security defences (which is a criminal offence under the Computer Misuse Act 1998). In accordance with Section 31 (1) (a) Law enforcement – the prevention or detection of crime of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, such information is exempt from disclosure.
